Prologue

Ol' Man River and Ole Miss spell Mississippi to people the world over. One is a great river and one is a great University, and together they have worked to carve out of the wilderness a great and progressive state. The Mississippi River and the University have proven to be two of the greatest contributing factors to the betterment of Mississippi, the state.

The mention of the words "Mississippi River" suggests to one to visualize a vast ribbon of water winding its way majestically through the land, history, and spirit of a country.

One sees the original inhabitants of the land using it as a vast transportation system, and he sees them crossing the river for the last time as they move westward away from the reach of the white men's civilization. He sees the white man poling his way down on a flatboat, and later on in small, crudely built steamboats, which become bigger and better until they are the masters of the river that once held the canoes of the red man at its mercy. After being mastered, the river is harnessed; great steel spans are thrown across it to support the railroads and highways that rob the river of its transportation monopoly, and monstrous mounds of dirt are thrown up along its banks--levees that stop the annual spree of the river as it spreads across the bottom-land, being at once both helpful and destructive.

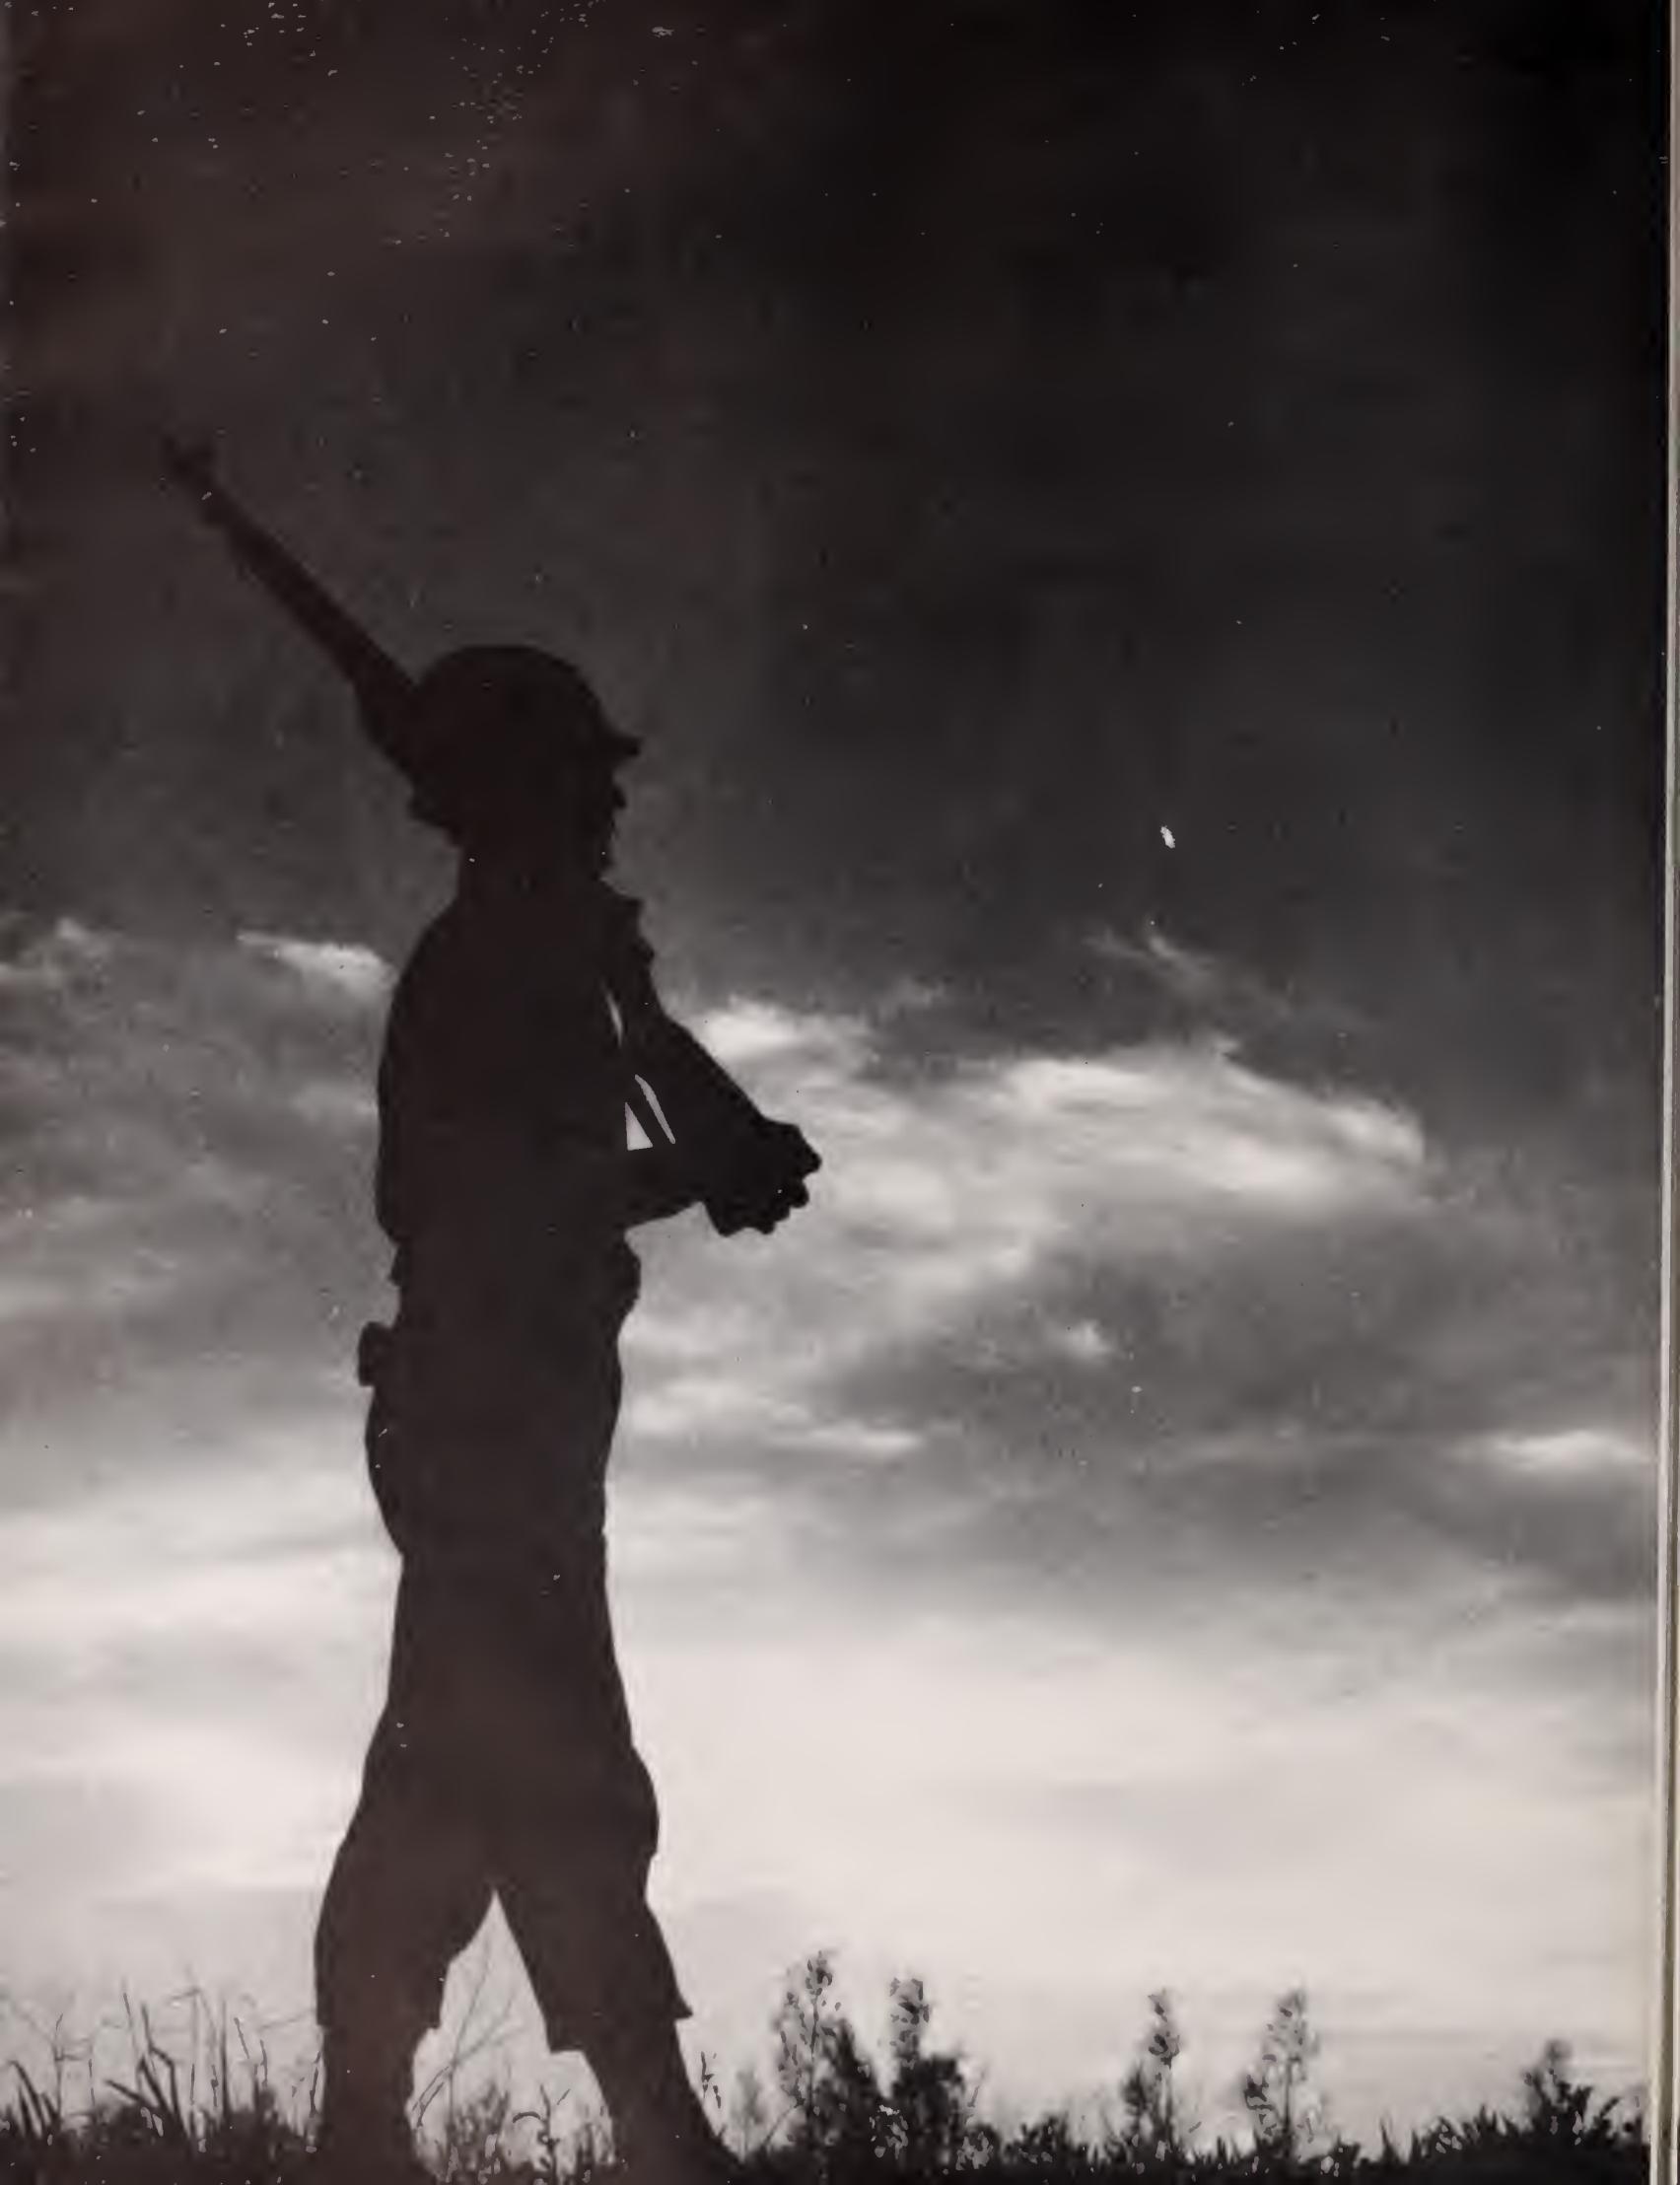

And too, one sees the personalities that made life on the Mississippi romantic and adventurous. Pioneers, steamboat pilots, bandits that hid in riverside caves during the day and raided boats at night, gamblers that made a living off the gullible passengers on the boats, and women who had scruples against nothing but short cash and empty stomachs. One does not dare forget them, for they were the original citizens of Mississippi.

Ole Miss also brings back visions: Young sons of rich plantation owners, coming to the University to get "book-larning"; slaves shining their masters' shoes and carrying their books to class; later, these same happy, lazy students marching away from the Lyceum, calling themselves the "University Greys" and fighting a war which they preferred to call "The War Between the States"; the Lyceum being used as a hospital, some of the boys returning, this time without their slaves and with much less money, coming to school to get enough education to make a living, and not four years of college just because it is a luxury; and women---"they're letting women go to college now.

What'll they think of next?"'; and farm boys and merchants' sons ---"anybody can go to college now"; dances, parties, football games, fraternities and sororities---"they're just wasting their folks' hard-earned money"; and maybe a few people visualize what goes on between these much-publicized diversions, the six days of every week that the young fools in college are spending in the classrooms learning to be the future leaders of Mississippi.

Ole Miss and Ol' Man River worked hand-in-hand in rearing the baby state of Mississippi to its maturity as a great and ever-progressive land of farms, trade, and industry. Ole Miss has never failed to keep growing. The spirit of the pioneers that Ol' Man River brought to Mississippi has not died. Henceforth, the challenge given to Ole Miss students of 1946 is to keep that spirit always flaming with great enthusiasm and a heartfelt interest in our Alma Mater.

Dedication

This book is humbly dedicated to those Americans who have borne the brunt of the battles and brought home a VICTORY. They fought diligently and hard, hoping and praying that the ultimate objective might be achieved, that objective being the establishment of peace and goodwill upon earth and among all nations. Especially do we dedicate this volume to those who have sacrificed their blood and lives in battle so that many other lives might be saved from the terror and disaster of defeat. As we lift praises unto God for his wonderful works, we are indeed thankful that America has come through the crisis of war again; and we offer our deepest gratitude to those who through united efforts have successfully trod another step through the valley of the shadow of death in order to preserve the American way of life.

GOV. THOMAS L. BAILEY

The Governor's chair in Mississippi is filled quite capably by the Honorable Tom Bailey. In spite of continuous opposition Governor Bailey always strives for the best state of condition in our state government. His attitude is very favorable toward the bettering of our educational set-up here in Mississippi, placing particular emphasis on rural education, its further development and promotion. Governor Bailey's intense interest in rural life may be attributed to the fact that he grew up on a farm under many hardships and handicaps.

Having worked part of his way through college, the Governor knows how to appreciate anything that has to be worked for. He has, thus far, diligently made every effort possible to promote Rural Life Conferences in Mississippi, seeking ultimately to educate the people of our fair state to the resources which we have and how they can best be utilized. Even though the Governor has had an unusually busy year, he found time to attend a pep rally at the University and also the Arkansas-Ole Miss football game in Memphis.

Chancellor ALFRED

T

HE Chancellor of the University has fulfilled his duties and responsibilities in a very fine way since coming to this institution in 1935. Since then the University has doubled its enrollment, and physical assets—such as buildings and grounds. Dr. Butts has continually striven for excellence in the University. Concerning his record before coming to Ole Miss, we quote from Who's Who: "Butts, Alfred Benjamin, university president; born at Durham, North Carolina, May 3, 1890; B.S., Mississippi State College, 1911, M.S., 1913; A.M. in government, Columbia, 1915, Ph.D., in public law, 1920; LL.B., Yale, 1930; . . . Instructor in government and in English, Mississippi State College, 1911-16, associate professor of philosophy and sociology, 1916-18, professor of education and sociology, 1918-21, professor of political science, 1921-30, vice-president and professor of government and director of instruction, 1930-35, chancellor and professor of law, University of Mississippi since 1935; . . . Admitted to Mississippi bar, 1928. Lieutenant Colonel, Judge Advocate General's Department., U.S. Army Reserve. . . . Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Alpha Delta, Omicron Delta Kappa, Scabbard and Blade. Democrat. Methodist. Rotarian. . . ." Chancellor Butts—a very capable, willing, and brilliant man—will long be remembered for his unselfish and untiring service rendered to this University.

The

Student government at Ole Miss is in reality just what the name implies: true representation of the students in a legislative body of their own. This autonomy is conducted through the officers of the Associated Student Body and representatives of the six schools and the five most important organizations. These representatives comprise the Executive Council and represent the student body on all official occasions. The prime purpose of the Executive Council is to render services to the students at any time. Our government is guided under a Constitution adopted by the Associated Student Body during the school year of 1936-1937. The Constitution states that the four ASB officers must be nominated by formal petitions signed by at least fifteen students, and presented to the ASB President not later than the second week in May of the same year. Candidates for president must have been students at the University for three years and must have a "C" average.

The Executive Council controls the appointment of members on the following committees: Athletic, Faculty, General Assembly, Lyceum, Student Body Dances, and Social Affairs.

Huey Howerton, Jr., was elected President for the 1945-1946 session but due to ill health he resigned in October. At a special election Bill Burgin was elected to finish the unexpired term.

This year the ASB Council sponsored the Victory Bond Drive, sold "Ole Miss" car tags, published the Student Directory, conducted a non-profit Book Exchange, and continued to operate the Student Bank. The Associated Student Body Executive Council stands ready at any time to render services to any student member of the University of Mississippi.

For the body of Ole Miss co-eds, The Women's Student Government Association is the governing organization. The Association has control over numerous matters involving women students and which are not otherwise controlled by the faculty. The Association is headed by an Executive Council and a Legislative Council. The former consists of the five officers while the latter is made up of representatives of the classes and dormitories.

Each Ole Miss co-ed is a member of the Association and is required to know and abide by its rules. Knowledge of the rules is gained through a regularly issued student handbook.

The Association is a member of the National Intercollegiate Association of Women Students and the Mississippi Intercollegiate Women's Student Government Association.

Week after week, month after month, the work goes on; from the second floor of the Union Building to the printer and to all corners of the campus the representatives of The Mississippian are at work. The result is that every Friday the student body has at its disposal "all the news that's fit to print."

With the exception of the major staff heads there were few holdovers from last year's staff, but an influx of new blood, including a number of NROTC students, gave the staff new zest and a finer product was the net result.

At the helm of the editorial department for the year was hard-working Hulda Cousins who contributed more than anyone else to the overall success of the paper. Her's was the responsibility of having each edition written, edited, and ready for publication by the weekly deadline.

Running the show in the business office was pretty Sara Jane Myers. Between keeping the books and supervising advertising and circulation she might easily have been called "the busiest girl on the campus."

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity which recognizes outstanding achievement in college activities. Members are selected twice each year on the basis of unusual leadership ability and general character. The degree to which they contribute to the scholastic and extra-curricular life of the University are taken into consideration. The fraternity dedicates itself to providing the most effectual ways and means for promoting the welfare of the student body and of Ole Miss. For example, throughout the school year the fraternity sponsors, in connection with Mortar Board, a series of forums in which outstanding speakers from different fields of life are brought before the student body.

Pi Kappa Pi is one of the comparatively new organizations on the campus. However, since it was founded it has received much recognition because of its high ideals upheld in scholastic work on the campus. Membership in Pi Kappa Pi is one of the two highest scholastic honors that may be attained at Ole Miss, the other being Beta Gamma Sigma which is for only commerce students and is similar to Phi Beta Kappa. Requirements for Pi Kappa Pi are few but high, the main one being a requirement of 70 per cent A's for two consecutive years.

Though selected in their Freshman year, members of Phi Eta Sigma retain active membership throughout their four college years. The aim of this honorary fraternity is not only to encourage high scholastic attainment among the men members of the Freshman Class, but also to promote intelligent living.

This is an honorary intersorority society. It is very secret in nature and is composed of members selected from each of the seven sororities on the Ole Miss campus. The Cardinal Club is a service organization composed of Sophomore men students. Organized in 1927, it has become known as a Freshman disciplinary committee, but its services to the University as a whole are numerous. The club supervises the building of the annual Homecoming Bonfire, acts as guide for the numerous faculty and student conventions held on the campus during the year, and works to instill the Ole Miss spirit and love of Ole Miss tradition into every freshman.

One of the outstanding services of the Cardinal Club to the school is the presentation each year of a monument which is placed at some conspicuous place on the campus.

The membership of the club is composed of one sophomore student from each of the social fraternities on the campus and two from the student body at large.

This year the Cardinal Club chose the attractive and popular Miss Joy Haynes to be its sponsor.

Beta Gamma Sigma is the "Phi Beta Kappa" of the Commerce School. Membership in the fraternity is based solely on scholastic attainments. Each year the students in the School of Commerce and Business Administration who are among the highest 10 per cent of the senior class are extended bids to the fraternity. The highest 3 per cent of the junior class are also extended bids each year. This is the highest scholastic honor a student at the University of Mississippi can attain. This year one honorary member was initiated into the local chapter, Dr. R. B. Highsaw, member of Phi Beta Kappa, professor, and director of the local research bureau for the School of Commerce and Business Administration.

The Home Economics Club is open to any girl that has had Home Economics or is taking courses in that department. The goals set for the club are: to improve international understanding; to develop professional pride; to develop the role of college students in the community; to interest high school pupils in studying Home Ec in high school and continuing the study in college; and lastly, to give a knowledge of the opportunities open to people trained in the various fields of Home Economics. The club meets the first Tuesday in every month. Miss Mattie G. King and Miss Dorothy Warner are the advisors.

INDEPENDENT STUDENTS' ORGANIZATION

The Independent Students' Organization gives representation to all University students who are not members of any social fraternity. One of the primary functions of this group is to enable its members to fulfill their political aspirations. Since its organization the Independent group has been the deciding factor in the campus two-party system, and has consistently striven to elect capable members to hold campus positions. Consequently, by carrying out this policy, this organization lives up to its responsibility. This year saw the Independents take a very active part in the intramural activities.

THE REBEL BAND

Maples and Ramsey, Ella Rita O'Neill

The Rebel Band is one of the mainstays for lively and progressive activity of our campus life at Ole Miss. During the war the band has been seriously handicapped because of the many Ole Miss musicians being in service. However, the band has remained active during the football seasons. Under the very capable student leadership of Bill Woods, the band put on performances this year in Memphis, Starkville, and Hemingway Stadium here at the University for Homecoming Day. Since the war is over Ole Miss will soon have a year-round band, playing for football games in the fall, and spending the rest of the year doing concert work. Mr. R. N. Whitfield, former director, is expected back soon. He is now on military leave from the University.

FLYING REBELS

After an absence of two years the Flying Rebels are again taking their place on the Ole Miss campus. Before the war interrupted the organization, the Flying Rebels were one of the newest and most progressive clubs on the campus. It grew out of the C.A.A. training program offered to Ole Miss students.

Today it is a common occurrence to see the Cubs flying over the campus and the traditional red and blue jackets worn by the Flying Rebels. The Flying Rebels consist of an eager bunch of students, co-eds included, that enthusiastically look toward the future. Besides the student officers, they are under the very capable leadership of John Wright from Hernando and E. O. Champion from Oxford. Admission is gained to this honorary club only after the applicant has completed solo flight and has been passed by the organization.

The Veterans Club is a somewhat new organization on the campus of Ole Miss. The veterans are kept informed of progress being made on other campuses, and in turn are doing a great deal of constructive thinking toward bettering our own campus. With the crowded living conditions existing, the Veterans Club is doing much to promote the quick building of housing units for married vets. One of the many worthwhile activities of this club was the early opening of the swimming pool; this was done so as to provide adequate recreational facilities for the fast increasing enrollment. One of the foremost policies of the group is to render service to the campus at all times in a non-political manner.

Hampered by poor weather, the championship football game in the Intramural league was postponed several times until at last near the end of February the Kappa Sigs and the Dekes battled it out for honors, with the Sigs emerging victorious by a 24 to 6 count. The Kappa Sigma entry appeared too powerful for the Dekes, and touchdowns by Burt, Arceneaux, and Evans, in addition to three conversions off the educated toe of Bud Phillips, provided the winning margin. Ray Turman tallied for the Dekes in the second quarter, to keep his team in the game until the end.

the Dekes redeemed themselves by knocking off a strong Navy "A" squad by a 41 to 20 score. The game, played as the feature attraction of the Intramural night festivities, was controlled by the Dekes all the way except for a brief spurt by the sailors early in the second half. Starting off early, the Dekes built up a 6 to 0 lead before their opponents could chalk up a basket, and from that point on it was easy sailing to victory. Rather and Turman led the Deke scoring with 10 and 8 points respectively, while Ellis paced the gobs by collecting 8 markers.

The softball finals again saw the Kappa Sigs and the Dekes pitted against each other for an intramural title. Kappa Sigma proved superior once more, dropping the Dekes 7 to 6 in an extra-inning affair which had all the thrills of a major league contest. Although they were trailing 6 to 2 going into the last inning, the Sigs rallied and blasted out four runs to tie up the ball game. In the following frame the Kappa Sigma bats spoke again to earn a run and the softball championship. Thus another season of Intramural athletics was brought to a successful conclusion, with officials convinced that the students of Ole Miss want an even bigger and better program for next year.

The Pan-Hellenic Council is composed of the seven sorority presidents and two representatives from each sorority. The officers are chosen by rotation. The Ole Miss Council is a member of the National Pan-Hellenic Council.

The primary purpose of the Pan-Hellenic Council is to promote harmony among the different sororities on the campus, and promote co-operation and unity among all the Greek-letter organizations, and to pass rules and regulations for the welfare of the system. To accomplish this effectively, Pan-Hellenic sets up the rushing rules, limiting the quota of pledges the various groups can pledge, regulating the bidding system, and co-operating generally with the University authorities throughout registration week.

WHO'S WHO

For the past twelve years the publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities has presented annually an extensive listing of America's outstanding college men and women. In addition to being one of the highest honors attainable by a college student, this publication serves as a reference manual which is referred to regularly by personnel managers seeking information on outstanding students.

AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

First Row: Tom Badon, Ellis Bodron, Bill Burgin, Guy Campbell. Second Row: Miriam Horne, Huey Howerton. Third Row: Mary Moody Johnson, Griff Norquist, Doug Stone, Erskine Wells.

Each year at Ole Miss the names of a number of the University's most outstanding students are selected to be honored by inclusion in this publication. This selection is made annually by a secret student-faculty committee. Thirteen students were selected to represent Ole Miss in the 1946 edition of "Who's Who." In addition to these there were ten students on the campus this year who had been selected in previous years.

ELLEN LOUISE AVENT

WILLIAM GARNER BURGIN, JR.

Membership in the Hall of Fame is based on character, scholarship, constructive leadership, and contribution to the betterment of Ole Miss. This is one thing that is entirely free of campus politics. It is the highest honor that can be awarded a University student. A primary committee of twelve students and faculty members chose by secret ballot a nominating committee of twenty-five students, who in turn made their selections by secret ballot.

Students who attained this high honor this year are Louise Avent, Bill Burgin, Helen Duke, and Lila Lee Nosser.

Students still on the campus who attained the honor in past years are Guy Campbell, Miriam Horne, Huey Howerton, Jr., Doug Stone, and Erskine Wells.

OFFICERS

OSCAR BUCHANAN	President
BERNARD BLACKWELL	Vice-President
JOHNNY BRUCE	Secretary
BOB McCAIN	Treasurer

The first semester the "M" Club was in a state of reactivation, but members were lacking. The only lettermen qualified were Oscar Buchanan, Bernard Blackwell, Johnny Bruce, and Bob McCain.

With the election of "Pep" Bennett as the second semester president, and with the many returning members, the club is rapidly becoming one of the most prominent and active organizations on the campus. Just before the Coronation Ball was held, the Club held a big banquet in the Cafeteria, inviting interested students and alumni. Several hundred attended, including Hon. John Savage of Gulfport who acted as Toastmaster, and former Governor "Mike" Conner.

The students can look forward to much interest being manifested in the "M" Club. The spirit of the Rebel clan lives deeply within the hearts of these boys.

Coaching the Rebel eleven last fall was Harry Mehre, who had revived football the previous season after it had been abandoned during the war. Working with green material, Mehre and his assistants, "Farmer" Johnson, Weems Baskin, "Goat" Hale, and Ed Stone were all out to better the poor record made by the 1944 team. The Rebs were by no means a bowl caliber outfit, but they played hard throughout the season, and climaxed their efforts with an astonishing upset of our traditional rivals from Cow College.

In step with the postwar expansion of Ole Miss has been the reorganization this year of the Athletic Department for the purpose of putting out better Rebel teams. Of the changes effected, the most important was the appointment of Harold "Red" Drew as head football coach. Spring training, a period notable for its spirited teamwork, indicated the wisdom of this selection. Drew was assisted in the backfield by D. T. Campbell and "Junie" Hovious. The latter also acted as scout. The line was coached by J. H. Vaught and Jim Whatley. Following spring practice, Vaught prepared the track team while Athletic Director Tad Smith groomed the baseball team for its heavy schedule. Earlier in the year, Jesse Alderman, trainer for the Rebel gridders, turned out a winning boxing squad comprised of six Mid-South Golden Gloves champs. During the same period, Jim "Buster" Poole, who came to Ole Miss for the season to succeed Hale, coached the basketball team. Ed Stone and "Wobble" Davidson instructed in Physical education, doing incidental work with the various teams.

COACHES

Coach Mehre seems to be telling his boys that this is the way to Ark's goal line.

Ole Miss vs. Kentucky: Bob McCain pursues a Kentucky man in Ole Miss' first game.

The Rebels were pretty much of an unknown quantity in pre-season football forecasts. Grid mentor Harry Mehre was able to assemble a squad consisting of only six lettermen. However, with the assistance of coaches Hale, Johnson, and Stone, he did manage to produce an eleven which provided Ole Miss admirers and students with an interesting season.

Employing the "T" formation, the gridiron stalwarts made a lot of pigskin prognosticators sit up and take notice, as they humbled the heavily favored Wildcats of Kentucky by a 21 to 7 count in this fall's curtain-raiser. Ole Miss' sons had given notice that they were out to do a complete reversal of form over the previous season, when they won only two games in the most disastrous of football schedules ever played by Red and Blue teams.

FLORIDA

Jubilation on the part of Ole Miss enthusiasts was not long lasting, however; an underrated Florida team upset the Red and Blue 26 to 13 a week later. Possibly quite satisfied with their performance in the opener against Kentucky, the Rebels did not show the same brand of play or spirit in the second contest of the season.

Despite this setback, the Rebels had seven more games remaining, and Ole Miss would have ample opportunity to display their best before the season was ended. The coaching staff was further augmented about this time by the return of Weems Baskin, discharged from the Navy with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Coach Mehre and his aides began driving the squad harder in an effort to regain a victorious trail, and led by Captain Bob McCain, the team picked up spirit and pointed their ambitions towards future engagements, which would require the very greatest cooperation for a winning season.

VANDERBILT

Our Rebels dampened Vanderbilt's return to the Southeastern Conference at Nashville, when they defeated the Commodores by a 14 to 7 margin. Vandy showed a rather inexperienced aggregation that was not able to cope with Ole Miss even though the Red and Blue were not at their best.

The Rebels' first touchdown came on a nice pass play from Johnny Bruce to Bill Stribling. Bob McCain's five yard gain on the previous play had helped set up the score, and the placement was a beauty by Don Kauerz, Ole Miss' place-kicking specialist. Johnny Bruce also figured in the scoring of the second Ole Miss touchdown, as he plunged through the center of the line from one foot out. Kauerz again place-kicked the extra point, and the Rebels held a 14 to 0 advantage. The Commodores tallied, however, as end Jim Patrick snatched Jewel Risher's pass. Campbell Williams kicked the extra point.

With a record of two victories in three games, the Red and Blue eleven had already equalled the previous season's record, and they held hope of a victorious season, in which more games would be won than lost.

Tenn. vs. Ole Miss: In a sea of mud, wind, and rain, Tennessee swamped Ole Miss 34-0. An unidentified Ole Miss man tries to take the ball with three Tennessee men wallowing him in the mud.

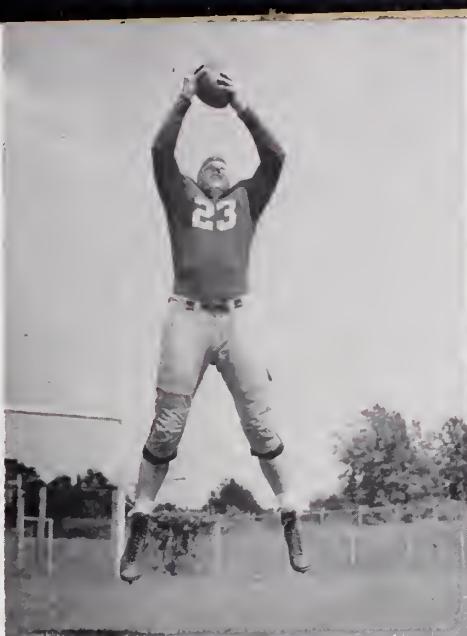

Ark. vs. Ole Miss: Dick Castle of Ole Miss takes it on the chin as an Ark. man hits him hard. Blackwell (50) of Ole Miss is coming up. Arkansas won 19-0.

LOUISIANA TECH

The flip of the coin starts the game between Louisiana Tech and Ole Miss on Homecoming Day.

Paced by some brilliant football on the part of their capable captain, Bob McCain, the Rebels chalked up another victory against an underrated Louisiana Tech squad by a score of 26 to 21. The "Homecoming" contest provided many tense moments for Coach Harry Mehre and the Red and Blue fans. McCain scored the first marker in the game on a fourteen yard smash late in the second period. Kauerz' kick was blocked, and the Rebs held a 6 to 0 lead. Armstrong clicked off a sixty yard touchdown dash for Tech, Morrison converted, and to the amazement of the Ole Miss fans, the Tech team went to the showers at halftime holding that scant one point lead. In the second half the Rebs regained their lead on Worley's eight yard plunge, and supplemented this with touchdowns by Crook and Stribling. Armstrong broke loose for Louisiana Tech's second marker, and Brittain scored the last one after he had recovered a Reb fumble. Final score: Ole Miss 26—Tech 21.

SEARS

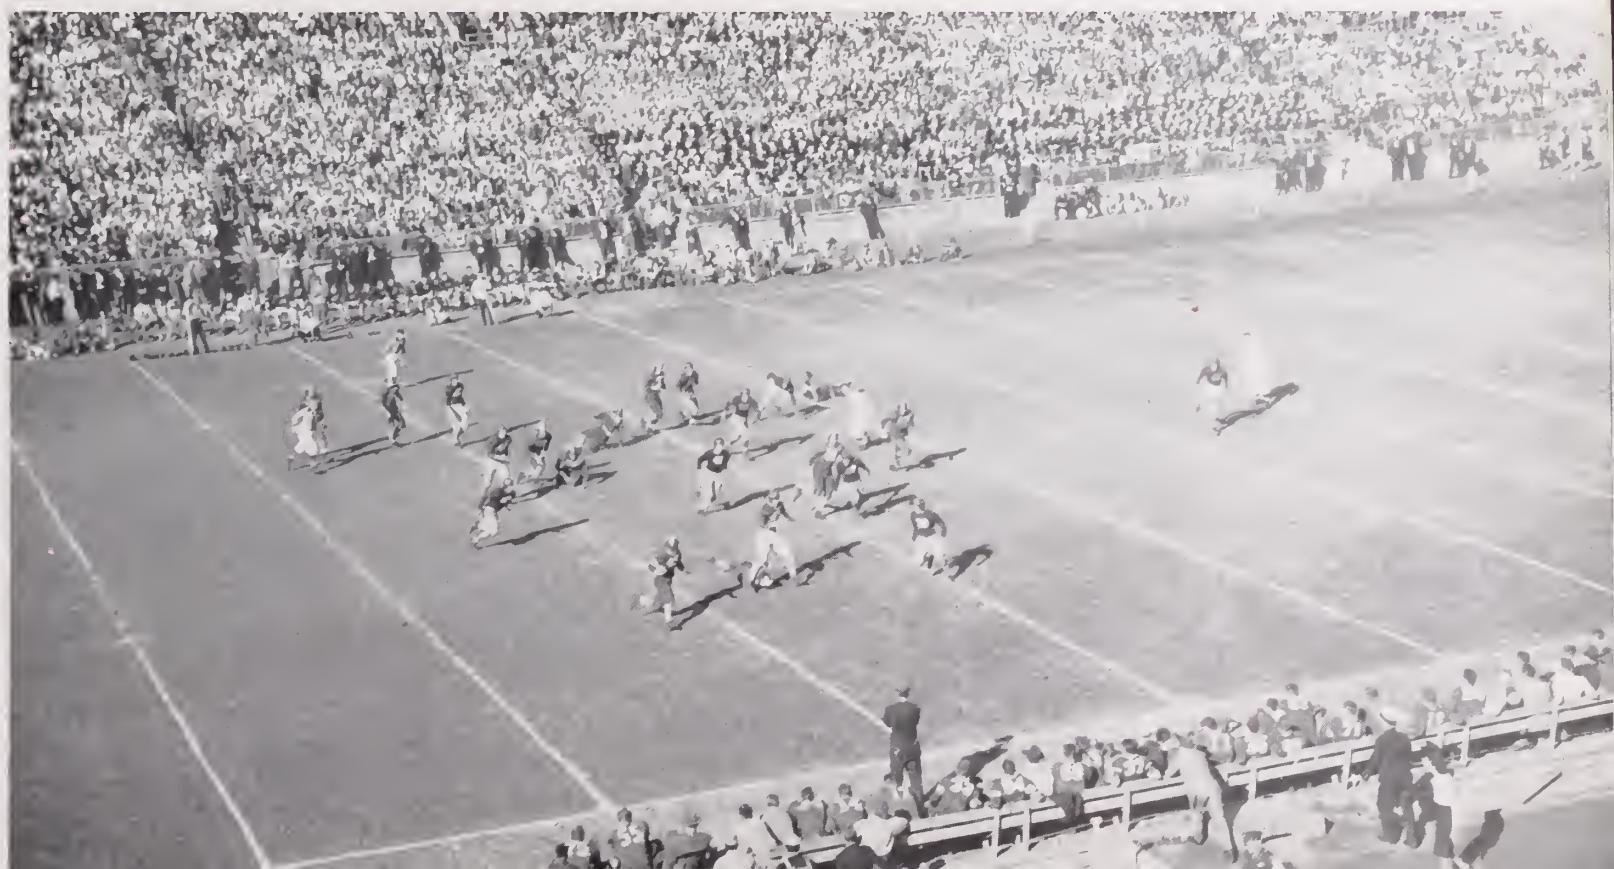

Displaying an overwhelming superiority in every respect, a high powered Arkansas aggregation rolled over the Rebel gridders by a score of 19 to 0, on the Crump Stadium gridiron, Memphis. Aided by the celebration of Navy Day, the game drew a huge crowd of twenty-five thousand enthusiastic fans.

Biggest disappointment of the day, was the injury sustained by Captain Bob McCain, Reb fullback, early in the game. Although McCain showed plenty of determination by re-entering the battle later in the afternoon, despite the pain he was suffering, it wasn't quite enough, and the Red and Blue finally wilted allowing the Porkers to triumph.

Resisting in true Rebel style, the Mississippi players led by Kauerz, Blackwell, and Russell, were able to stem the tide of the Razorback avalanche until late in the second period. At this point, Wells heaved a fifty yard aerial to Schumchyk for a touchdown, and the Porkers led 6 to 0 at the half. It was easy going for Arkansas during the second half, and they sewed it up on scores by Smith and Henson in the final period of the game. Johnny Bruce attempted to score through the air for Ole Miss, but he was frustrated by a rugged Arkansas line, and an alert Porker backfield.

L. S. U.

Hampered by injuries, a stubborn little band of fighting Rebels battled vainly against a powerful Louisiana State squad, and were defeated 32 to 13, in a thrill packed tussle. Striking with two lightning touchdowns in the first period, the Tigers appeared ready to roll up an impressive score on the helpless Reb's, but the boys representing the Red and Blue rallied, and they fought courageously to the end. LSU scored three minutes after the game began, with Don Sandifer carrying the ball over. He was followed shortly afterwards by Red Knight, who broke loose on a beautiful run. Continuing their scoring spree, the Tigers took the ball over deep in their own territory, where Bill Montgomery evaded Reb tacklers to score another touchdown. Wells garnered the first Ole Miss score before the half ended. The tired Rebs weakened in the fourth period, and Montgomery and Cason added two more touchdowns for L.S.U. Wells tossed to Harper for the last Ole Miss score, and the game ended with the Red and Blue in possession of the ball close to the Tiger goal.

Tennessee's Volunteers racked up another gridiron victory at the expense of a Rebel football team, when they literally buried the boys in the mud of Crump Stadium, Memphis. Intermittent cold rain kept what promised to be a sellout crowd down to a paltry few hardy fans, who braved the weather to witness this muddy debacle. Gaining a decided advantage in the sloppy field, a big hard charging Tennessee forward wall proved to be the main factor in the triumph. Led by the Dobelstein brothers, the orange clad gridders swarmed through the Ole Miss defense almost at will, and lost no time in gaining a safe margin of touchdowns before the first quarter had ended. Buster Stephens stood out in the backfield, and scored two markers for the Vols. Also scoring for Tennessee were Stephenson, Bevis, and Holtsclaw. Ole Miss fans got a thrill when little Jerry Crook scooted forty-five yards down the center of the field, only to be stopped from behind on the fifteen.

MISSISSIPPI STATE

The old saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same place went by the boards as an inspired Reb eleven overwhelmed the highly touted Maroons from Mississippi State by the narrowest of margins, 7 to 6. A capacity throng of 18,000 shrieking onlookers watched with surprise as the Rebels administered their second consecutive defeat over the hapless Bulldogs and gained their seventeenth victory in this forty-two year old series between two of the country's arch rivals. Not only was the victory a total surprise, but Coach Harry Mehre pulled a new-fangled "A" formation against the bewildered Starkville boys. Hardly Top: Ole Miss vs. Miss. State; Bob McCain is making an end around play against State. Bottom: Here is the play that beat Miss. State. five minutes had elapsed before Ole Miss had gained a 7 to 0 lead which they never relinquished. Frank Davis, our side's left halfback, had tossed a long aerial to Jack Warner for the tally and Don Kauerz converted. Then for fifty-five long minutes the Rebels held on, fighting like lions. Time and again Ole Miss men were injured but always previously unheard-of substitutes came in and played like stars. Four times State had the Red and Blue back in the coffin corner, and four times the Rebs held. Harper Davis scored for State in the final minutes of play, and the tension mounted as the attempt at conversion was made. The pig-skin sailed low and wide, and Ole Miss had emerged triumphant.

"Pep" Bennett and Frank Davis, opposing captains on the Ole Miss spring training teams, await the toss of the coin for the kickoff.

The Rebels pulled the curtain down on the 1945 season as they lost to the University of Chattanooga by a score of 31 to 6. It was Thanksgiving Day in Tennessee and the Moccasins had a holiday on the field as well as on the dinner table. Crippled by the State game, the Ole Miss gridders were no match for the "Noogas" who were at their peak. The final decision was never in doubt after the first half as the Chattanooga fullback, Gene Roberts, went over for the first tally shortly after the opening kickoff. The Moccasins added two more touchdowns in both the second and third quarters and not until the final frame was Ole Miss able to score their lone marker.

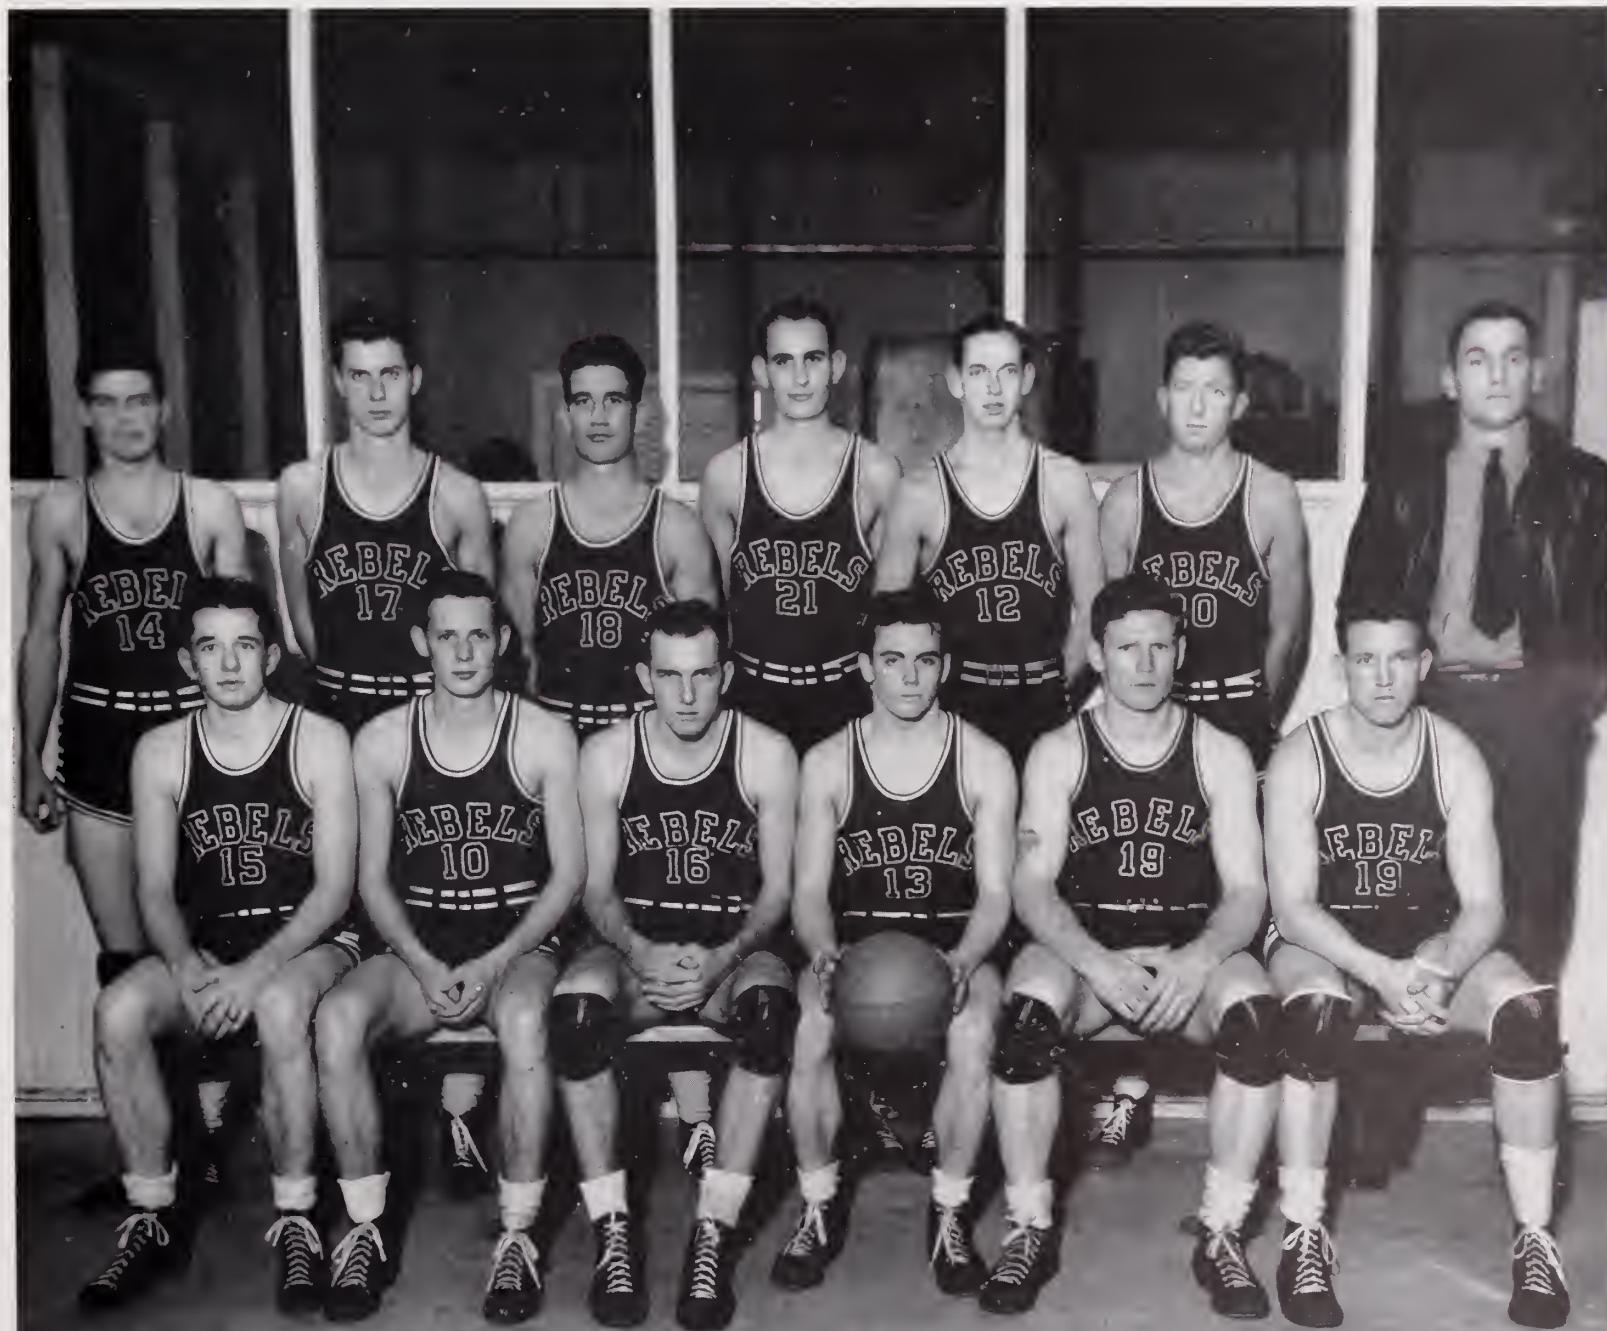

Under the guidance of Coach "Goat" Hale, the Rebel cage squad began practices a few weeks before Christmas. Hale worked long hours moulding a suitable aggregation. Shortly before their first game, the cagers received a new mentor in the person of Jim "Buster" Poole, a well-remembered alumnus.

On January 7, the Rebs met Southwestern College on the home court. The game proved easy for the Red and Blue, for they coasted to a 44 to 21 victory over their helpless foe. The starting team for that first game was drawn largely from the Naval ROTC unit here at Ole Miss. Jack Marshall, Paul Schrader, George Murphy, and Jack Enright played an important part in that initial triumph, along with "Stretch" Tate, the lone civilian on the first quintet.

Next came Tennessee to whom the Rebs succumbed 65 to 42. Playing like champions the first fifteen minutes of the game, the Ole Miss squad kept on even terms with the Vols. Loaded with reserves, the Vols returned for the second half, however, as fresh as when they began, and rolled over the weary Rebels with apparent ease.

L.S.U. visited the campus the following evening and they had no trouble in overcoming Johnny Reb. The Tigers appeared quite definitely on in racking up a 53 to 23 decision. Ole Miss was still using their original lineup, with the exception of Johnny Bruce replacing Jack Enright at guard.

Returning to form in the next contest with Millsaps, the Rebels led by Jack Marshall, who scored 20 points, swamped the Majors 58 to 33.

The total conference losses rose to four after defeats by Vanderbilt and Alabama. Ole Miss played host to both conference rivals, suffering a close 39 to 31 licking at the hands of the Commodores and an even closer 36 to 34 loss inflicted by the Crimson Tide.

On their first road trip of the year, the Rebs drubbed Millsaps 50 to 42 and Mississippi College 61 to 41, but lost to L.S.U. 60 to 35. Reed and Marshall highlighted the games with consistent high scoring.

At this point the Rebels held a record of four victories and five losses.

A return game with Mississippi College's Choctaws on the campus proved disastrous, however, when a scrappy visiting team upset our boys 39 to 38. It was a hard fought game throughout, but the ever-confident Rebels couldn't seem to click in the pinches and they dropped another close one. Two days later the hoopsters suffered still another loss with an invasion of Tuscaloosa for another crack at Alabama. The Crimson Tide emerged triumphant by a score of 61 to 45.

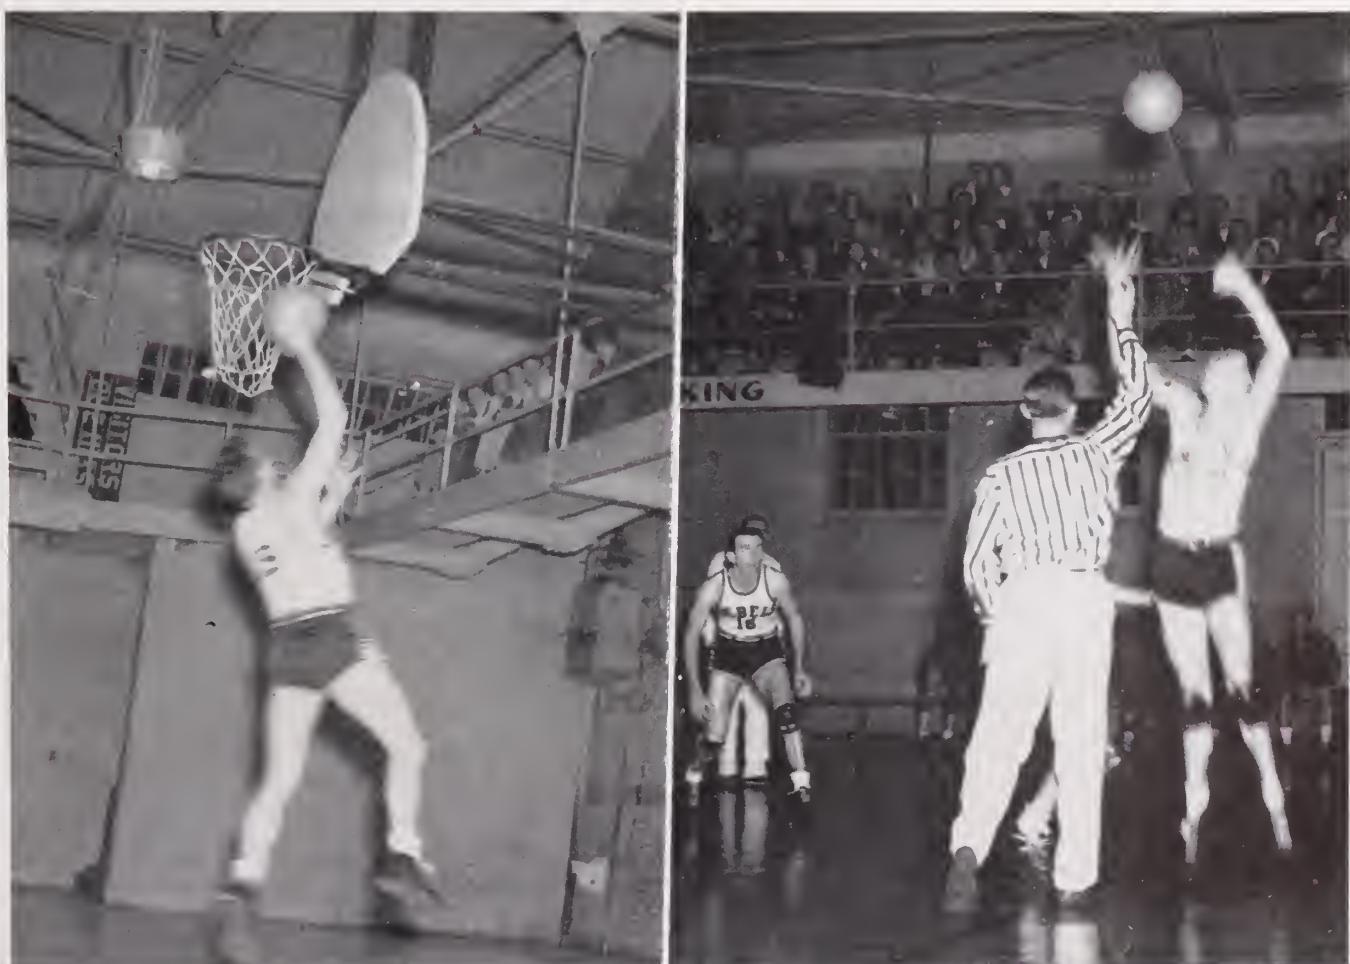

Things picked up temporarily. The local supporters were treated to a double victory over Cow College, for the Maroons were trampled two nights in a row, 58 to 44 and 45 to 40.

Saturday, February 16, the Rebels travelled to Memphis for a return game with Southwestern College. A high scoring contest resulted, and Ole Miss came home with their seventh victory by a score of 76 to 44. Paul Schrader came close to the school record for individual scoring in one game with his 31 points.

Disappointment prevailed after the Reds dropped two games to State in an unhappy invasion of Starkville. The Maroons evened the annual series with 50 to 43 and 54 to 34 victories.

In preparation for the home game with the Naval Air Station, the Ole Miss hoopsters engaged the Coca-Cola independent team in a Navy relief benefit exhibition in Memphis on Friday, February 22. The Rebels won the scrap 47 to 40.

Three nights later, the N.A.S. quintet visited Ole Miss. Sparked by Bob Holtsclaw, the visitors led their host by a narrow margin through most of the game. In the closing phase the Memphis sailors spurted to an eighteen point lead to win 65 to 47. Russell Reed's seventeen points clinched him the top honors for the team that game.

The Southeastern Conference Tournament at Louisville was the closing event in the 1946 season. Drawing a pass for the first day, Ole Miss encountered on the following night the L.S.U. team, which had already beaten Tulane. The 69 to 34 trouncing suffered by the Rebs eliminated the Red and Blue from the show.

Final tally for the season showed seven victories for conference credit and eleven losses. On the basis of total points scored, Jack Marshall, a Rebel Navyman from Florida, led the Ole Miss squad with 79 baskets and 19 foul shots—that is, 177 points. Russell Reed was close on his heels with 165. Another sailor, Schrader, tallied 136. Perhaps the greatest disadvantage with which the team had to deal was the lack of reserves. Manager for this year was Tom Muse.

Manifest of the reconversion of Ole Miss to a peacetime basis is the reappearance on the campus of many activities discontinued during the war. Among these is boxing. Jesse Alderman, an Ole Miss graduate of several years' professional boxing experience, groomed the team for the big event of the season—the Mid-South Golden Gloves Tournament held at Memphis in early February. Of the thirteen Ole Miss entries, six succeeded in capturing titles. Two open championships and four novice ones clinched the Rebel victory. Later in February, Oscar Buchanan, heavyweight pugilist of several seasons experience in the Memphis circuit, and A. C. Abraham, lightweight champ whose performance in the Mid-South tournament was outstanding, participated in the western division of the nationals at Chicago. Prior to these events was an intra-squad exhibition in January. Those of the squad not shown are as follows: "Buddy" Bowen, Mike Campbell, Ed Hanford, Dave Pfloomm, Earl Jones, George Demetriou, Victor Blaine, John Cornell, Bill Dehn, and Lamar Pierson. Donald F. Clarke was manager.

"SPRING IS SO BEAUTIFUL—I JUST CLOSE MY LITTLE EYES AND DREAM!"

We cannot help but recall many pleasant associations with a host of people and because of their immeasurable aid in our task, we have learned to respect and honor them for their unlimited assistance.

With the publication of The 1946 OLE MISS we see the end of a difficult task. We wish to extend our sincere thanks and heart-felt gratitude to these people who have given generously of their time, talents, and facilities to help make this the best book possible:

to Mr. W. A. Benson for his most sincere and personal interest in our book; to Mr. E. W. Benson for his splendid co-operation in handling technical matters for the printing company; to Mr. Bob Ekhart for his excellent help in designing this book; to Mr. Charles Renegar and Mr. Victor Cooley for their most efficient service in making individual photographs; to Mr. J. R. Cofield for his quick service in supplying us with special pictures; to The Standard Photo Company of Jackson, Mississippi, for their fine quality developing service; to Mr. Casey Elliot of The Commercial Appeal for supplying us with ample sports action shots; to Mr. P. E. Dozier, Mrs. Daisy Abbot, and Mr. P. A. Dean of Shreveport Engraving Company for their fine reproduction of our photographs;
to Kingsport Press Company for their fine quality work done on the covers;
to The Mississippian for the publicity given our book and our advertisers;
to The Rebel for its expressed interest in our book;
to Dr. David Bishop, Dr. Elmer Hammond, Dr. C. F. Dunham, and other members of the Publication Board for their counsel and advice from time to time; to Dr. P. K. McCarter for his willingness to proofread important copy; to the advertisers who through their advertisements have made it possible for us to put out a "better-than-average" book;
to Clifton Maxwell, Dot Day, and Mary Ann Rivers for their manifest interest and work on the Business Staff;
to George Harmon, Tom Allen, George Tindall, and Herb Sillman for their wonderful assistance on the Editorial Staff. Without their help this book would have been impossible.

Last we thank all of the staff members who gave unsparingly of their time, neglected their studies, lost sleep, and pulled hardest when the going was most difficult. We offer our sincere apology to those whose names and pictures have, through mistake, been omitted, and whose names have been misspelled.
